John M. Feierabend is the founder of the Center for Music and Movement in the Early Years and is chair of the music education department of the Hartt School of Music. He is the author of the books in the First Steps in Music series. He lives in West Hartford, Connecticut.

This book is part of a wonderful series of books that are great for music teachers, or really anyone who works with young children. It contains a great collection of fingerplays and songs sorted by subject. I appreciated the fact that there was music included with the songs in case you have not heard them before. I would say the best audience for this book is ages 2-6, with a few songs that might be enjoyable for older children. In conclusion, a great addition to any collection.

This book contains many rhymes and fingerplays and I like that several have the music notes to go with them.

The kids love it!

not enough for babies

This is a good resource for teaching my youngest students. I'm still figuring out how to incorporate it best in my lessons.

I was excited to get the book in new condition but there are few action songs and some fingerplays are just different versions of fingerplays I have already used not impressed on the first go through. I hope to find it more useful upon closer inspection.

I was looking for something to use in my K-2 music class. This seemed to be at a lower level than what I was looking for.
